

Aydın ÇÖL was born in 1976, in Osmancık, Çorum, Turkey. He has studied his primary, secondary and high school in the same city. He has studied in Medical High School then has started University in 1996 at Biology Department of Science Faculty, Atatürk University, Turkey.

He has started his M.Sc. study in 2003 at Biology Department of science Institute, Marmara University.

His PhD is about Microbial Genetics in Genetics and Bioengineering field in Burch Uni.

He had 18 years teaching experience in 5 different countries as a Biology teacher after his graduation. He is currently working as a Head of Biology Education in Ishik University, where he has been since 2015.

His research interests include; Microbial Genetics, Antibiotic resistance, Acinetobacter baumannii, Resistance mechanisms, Resisto-types, Genotyping, Phenotyping, and Characterisation.